

Everton vs. Liverpool

On the 20th February at 18:30 p.m time had come. Liverpool played against Everton. It was the 238th Merseyside Derby and the 110th on the Anfield Road. Everton was the clear Underdog, because Liverpool had a very good team with famous players for example Virgil van Djik, Mohammed Salah and Sadio Mane. It was a match in the premier League.

At 18:30 p.m. the referee whistled for the game. In the first minutes Everton was the better team and in the third minute a goal was scored by them. The Brazilian Richarlison scored the goal and kicked the ball into the bottom left of the gate --- no chance for Alisson Becker. James Rodriguez made the assist, he played a forward pass into the top of Liverpool`s defense. Now the score was 1:0 for Everton. After the goal it was an even and exciting game. Both teams were good and had chances. After 45 Minutes the score still was 1:0. At half-time the coaches talked to their teams, to make them better. The Liverpool coach Jürgen Klopp probably did it, because in the second half Liverpool got better and better. They had a lot of chances but they couldn`t score a goal. One reason for this was Jordan Pickford, the Everton goalkeeper, who played a very good match. Liverpool was very offensive, so they neglected the defense. In the 83rd minute Everton played quickly forward, and Dominic Calwert-Lewin kicked the ball, but Allisson held it. After this he tripped over Trent Alexander Arnold in the penalty area. It wasn`t a clear foul, but the referee Chris Kavanagh said, that Calwert- Lewin was fouled and gave Everton a penalty. Gylfi Sigurðson kicked the ball into the bottom left too. Alisson was in the right corner, but couldn`t hold it, so another goal was scored by the Underdog. It was unhappily for Liverpool and great for Everton. That was the final scene in the match, then it was over. Richarlison was the matchwinner.

For Everton it was the first win in Anfield since 1999, so the team and the coach Carlo Ancelotti could be very happy. Liverpool probably was frustrated, because they had lost the last three matches in the Premier League too, so now they lost four games in a row. A reason could be, that they missed the fans, who always celebrate and cheer for them.
